NATURALLY LUXE

KERI MCKAY INTERIORS

Vignette at Sorelle Gallery

September 2016

My vignette design was inspired by gallery artwork from both Ned Martin and Alina B. I chose Fractals, by Ned Martin, as the focal point of my design. I was drawn to this natural, yet graphic oil painting on reclaimed aluminum printing plates. The luxurious silvered mirrors by Alina B added visual texture and beautiful light reflection.

This 'Naturally Luxe' vignette marries organic colors and textures with lavish materials, details and design. Contemporary, nature-inspired furnishings and accessories create a peaceful backdrop, setting the stage for the intricately detailed artworks of recycled aluminum, glass and silver. The clean-lined console table has a triangular oak base and is topped in black vellum. On either side sits a crocodile-inspired upholstered chair and cylindrical end table, which boasts a beautiful graphic pattern of faux turtle shell. The chrome side table is crowned with a petrified wood-slice and atop the console sits shimmering votives made from natural selenite crystals. A sumptuous grey shag area rug and Mongolian lamb fur pillow add the final layer of texture and softness. This naturally luxe space is the perfect retreat for quiet reflection and inspiration.
